

In 2007, American Public University System (APUS) became a Charter Signatory of the American College and University Presidents Climate Commitment (ACUPCC). Below are some of the most significant steps taken since that time toward reducing our carbon footprint and achieving carbon neutrality by 2050.

